INTRODUCING TWO NEW TITLES FROM

Grace Harlow Press

In praise of Grace Harlow Klein's latest book of poetry, Bridge of Returning:

"In a touching family remembrance, Grace adeptly balances life and death. Finding her voice, she illuminates how both kind and piercing, provincial and transcendent, damaging and empowering the experience of loss can be. The journey demonstrates how her life-long practice of empathy and courage for others as a nurse, psychotherapist, educator, and dean powerfully evokes the intimate nature of not only her own, but indeed all of our lives' loves and losses. She somehow manages to trail blaze and offer a glacial poignance through the experience of both life and death."

Jeffrey H. D. Cornelius-White, PsyD, LPC

"...The collection is a touching gift, the poems providing richness and hope to each of us as we navigate our lives... Vividly important at any age, and a 'must read' for mid- and later life reflections."

Lois K. Evans, PhD, RN, FAAN

Advance praise for
Loss: A Personal Journey of Empowerment:

"...Reading Loss: A Personal Journey of Empowerment is to enter the powerful impact of a long journey from the darkest cave dwellings to the discovery of a pinpoint of daylight – and where hope leads to epiphany."

Kerry Moustakas, PhD

"In an artistic, eloquent blend of poetry, photography, and raw truth, Grace Harlow Klein confronts a devastating fracture in her carefully wrought life and shares her slow-but-sure struggle back to health and creativity..."
